

The "do not call list" is a wonderful tool. I had not realized what a difference it had made in my family's life until we moved and got a new telephone number. During the interim where we were waiting for our new telephone number to be catalogued, we were inundated with sales calls. Keep the do not call list.